

Abstract

5 The present invention relates to a process for producing aliphatic C<sub>3</sub>-C<sub>10</sub>-alcohols, in particular 2-ethylhexanol, from high boilers by thermal treatment in the presence of an alkali metal compound and subsequent hydrogenation of the volatile products.